

Green Ash Tree

Can you find this tree in your backyard or neighbourhood?

Green ash trees are medium to large deciduous trees. The central stem of the leaf has 7-13 leaflets (small leaves). Their seeds are called samaras.

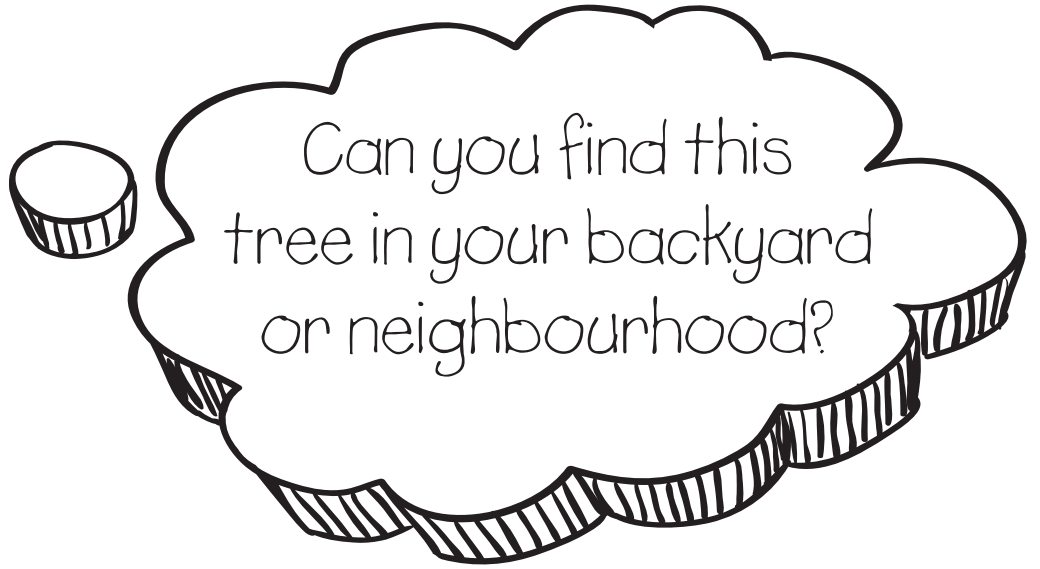

Proudly supported by

Enjoy this activity in your neighbourhood and remember to stay one big bicycle (2 metres) away from other people.

Elm Tree

American Elms are deciduous trees that have serrated leaves with an asymmetric base and sharply pointed tip. The trees have a vase-like shape.

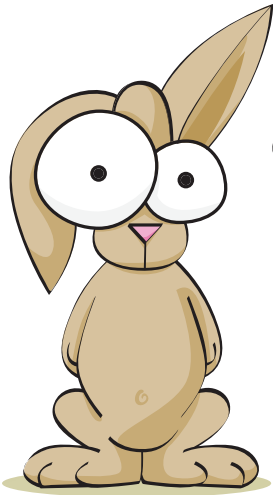

Proudly supported by

Enjoy this activity in your neighbourhood and remember to stay one big bicycle (2 metres) away from other people.

Can you find this tree in your backyard or neighbourhood?

White Spruce

White Spruce are a medium-sized conifer that have a cone-shaped crown. Their needles are singly attached to branches and are bluish-green in color. They stay on the tree through the winter.

Proudly supported by

Enjoy this activity in your neighbourhood and remember to stay one big bicycle (2 metres) away from other people.

